

The color of evil and hatred is not confined to the color of one's skin. It's spiritual and systemic! It blinds you from seeing your humanity inside of another. It robs you of love, joy, and peace.

I just think about the fact that I'll never see my son again. I'll never see that smile again. He'll never see his son grow up...I'm waiting for my son to walk through the door and he's not.

mother of Tyre Nichols

My humanity is bound up in yours, for we can only be human together.

I am just trying to get home.

You can't separate peace from freedom because no one can be at peace until he has freedom.

I'll never respect how footage is released of something so gruesome to keep people vibrating in the state of fear, anger, and hate! It should be way more respect for his innocent soul and even his FAMILY. What happened to rest in "PEACE" SMFH !!

The vicious, unjustified beating of Tyre Nichols and his ultimate death at the hands of five Memphis police officers is just the latest, painful reminder of how far America still has to go in fixing how we police our streets.

As we mourn the loss of a man who had much ahead of him, I want to showcase #TyreNichols in his true essence. He was a loving father, considerate son, & loyal friend with a passion for skateboarding & photography. Rest in power & know that we'll seek justice.
